

Newmarket — Bert Budd, last year council member who was seventh at the polls Monday, had no comment on reports he would ask a recount. He was four votes behind Tom Birrell. He has ten days from voting day to enter his appeal.

Corbett Repeats Vote Performance, Dr. Boland Out

Aurora—On Monday, Dec. 6, the people of Aurora went to the polls where they selected their representatives on the council and public school board for the coming year. Out in greater numbers than last year when 749 out of a possible 1,851 voters ticked their ballots, nearly 47 percent or 867 out of 1,857 on the voters' list exercised their franchise.

All four members of last year's council running again this year were returned to office together with two new councillors. At the forefront again this year as last was W. C. Corbett with 508 votes, nearly 100 ahead of his closest rival. Councillor Corbett led in all wards but ward five where Charles Davies topped him by one vote. Councillor Corbett polled as follows: ward one, 119; ward two, 109; ward three, 165; ward four, 118; ward five, 87. Last year he received 432 votes, leading in all wards but ward five.

With 504 votes, Don Glass, running for the first time, placed second, outpacing his closest running-mate by nearly 50 votes. Well known and popular, Councillor Glass is prominent in town activities. In ward one he polled 95; ward two, 108; ward three, 155; ward four, 78; and 68 in ward five.

Charles Davies, with 461 votes, finished third, closely followed by Victor Jones with 456 votes. Councillor Davies, leading ward five with 88 votes, polled 83 in ward one; ward two, 83; ward three, 129; ward four, 78. Last year Councillor Davies placed second with 399 votes, 34 behind Councillor Corbett. Victor Jones this year jumped from number six position last year with 330 votes to number four. His 450 votes were divided among the five wards as follows: 63 in ward one, 84 in ward two, 132 in ward three, 101 in ward four and 68 in ward five.

In fifth position is James Murray, also running for the first time. Well known to the people of Aurora and interested in town development and management, Councillor Murray polled 80 votes in ward one; ward two, 79; ward three, 117; ward four, 60; and 64 in ward five. Rounding out the 1949 council is Harold Pringle who dropped from fourth position last year to sixth this year. Councillor Pringle devoted a great deal of time last year in furthering the work of the Town Planning Board. Councillor Pringle polled as follows: ward one, 63; ward two, 85; ward three, 109; ward four, 83; and 62 in ward five. The three defeated candidates, A. K. Bennett, Guy Watson and G. R. Ward were all running for the first time. Not as well known to the people of Aurora as the other candidates, they polled 246, 166 and 154 votes respectively.

In their selection of public school trustees the people of Aurora chose Dr. E. J. Henderson with 675 votes, Charles V. Peterson with 501 votes and Mrs. Lorne C. Lee with 402 votes.

Dr. Henderson, with a distinctive margin of 174 votes, led in all wards but ward five where he was tied with Dr. A. W. Boland with a poll of 90. In ward one he received 132 votes, 114 in ward two, 196 in ward three and 134 in ward four.

Mr. Peterson, well known and highly respected Aurora resident, polled as follows: ward one, 97; ward two, 105; ward three, 130; ward four, 98; and 71 in ward five. Mrs. Lee, prominent in many Aurora activities including the Home and School Association, received 75 votes in ward one, 70 in ward two, 94 in ward three, 87 in ward four and 76 in ward five.

Much surprise was evidenced by many people at the failure of Dr. A. W. Boland to retain his seat on the school board. Dr. Boland received 348 votes, 54 less than Mrs. Lee. However, Dr. Boland has continually voiced his desire for a new public school and this does not meet with the approval of those in favor of the conversion of the present high school into a public school. The fifth candidate, Stanley Walker, was left far behind the other nominees, polling a total of 265 votes.

Council Upholds Parking Charge

Aurora — Meeting Tuesday evening, the Aurora council unanimously endorsed the fine work of the Aurora Police Department. A letter from George Duffield, prominent Aurora shoe retailer, was read to council by town clerk Harold Clark in which Mr. Duffield accused the Aurora police of indifference in the issuance of parking summons, and recommended that the no-parking-by-law be dropped for the winter months.

Mayor Crawford Rose stated that about a week ago Constable William Langman looked over the town parking lot next to Mr. Duffield's store and found only three cars parked there. The lot was dry and in good condition and he saw no reason why other town merchants should park their cars on Yonge St. all day, rather than use the parking lot available to them. Checking the cars on the street he found six which were parked over the one-hour limit. These six, among them Mr. Duffield's car, received tickets.

The council was unanimous in their support of the action of Constable Langman. Reeve A. A. Cook commented that, "Duffield is the merchant closest to the parking lot and has the least reason of all for complaint." "We should write a letter commending the work of this policeman," said councillor T. F. Swindle. "We are getting excellent police service," was the comment of Mayor Rose. The council as one decided to pay no attention to Mr. Duffield's letter.

Mrs. N. L. Mathews, H. J. Luck Co-chair U. K. Aid Appeal

Newmarket—The United Emergency Fund for Britain is a voluntary national agency, set up to assist individual groups throughout Canada in making their Aid to Britain more effective. Newmarket has organized for this work, two meetings held recently appointed H. J. Luck and Mrs. N. L. Mathews, co-chairmen. This committee will undertake the collection of funds, purchase of food and packing of individual parcels for approved recipients in Britain.

Under a similar committee, 700 food parcels were sent to Britain in the period from March 15 to October this year. Hundreds of letters of appreciation have been received locally from grateful recipients.

The need is greater than ever. The U.E.F.B. has obtained from the British government certain privileges. These include free ocean freight on bulk shipments, free dockage and warehousing, also free internal transportation. The U.E.F.B. exists to make your dollar do the most possible for the hungry people of Britain.

Citizens of Newmarket are urged to support this Emergency Food for Britain effort as they have done in the past. Gifts of money made to U.E.F.B. are deductible from this year's taxes if made in 1948. Make your contribution at local banks or The Era and Express office. All contributions will be acknowledged in The Era and Express.

Coming Saturday Santa Writes

Era and Express Special, North Pole—Hello boys and girls, this is Santa Claus writing you with the final details of my parade in Newmarket Saturday. The parade will start at Main St. and Davis Dr. at 2 p.m. sharp and will reach the post office at approximately 2.20 p.m. and Main and Water Sts. at 2.35 p.m. Be on time and be sure to be in a good spot to see the parade. The parade will take 30 to 40 minutes to pass one given point. When we get to the town hall, 2,000 bags of candy, nuts and fruit will be given away by me and my helpers. I will be on my throne at the hall to shake hands with all you boys and girls that want to tell me what you want for Christmas right after the parade.

I hear that the 50-50 club of the United church is going to decorate my throne for me and that my Newmarket photographs will be on hand to take the pictures of any boy or girl shaking hands with me if their mother or father wishes it. The Lions club is going to help me give out all the candies. I will be arriving in my special autogiro and I will fly up over Main St. and do a wing-over at 1.30 p.m. so all you girls and boys listen for the motor and you will know when I arrive. The chief of police will lead the parade with his staff of constables and the firemen are going to police the full parade route. The parade will be formed on Davis Dr. and will go south on Main St. to Water, along Water to Church, up Church to Timothy and along Timothy to the market square. I hope that everybody will obey the complete instructions and make the parade a big success. Remember to let the small people in front and if someone behind you is smaller, let him in ahead of you. Courtesy doesn't cost anything. Any person in costume or anyone with a float that has not already notified the parade marshal, Mr. Beazer, will still be welcome. All floats, bands and participants are to be at Davis' leather Co. and Davis Dr. not later than 1.40 p.m. There will be three bands, 16 floats, 53 drum majorettes, 120 other people, one horse, one bull and Fill the Clown plus others too numerous to mention. Remember to be on time and to be careful.

Seek Volunteers To Roof Legion Hall

Aurora—President Les Steadman of the Canadian Legion, Branch 385, announced Wednesday that the Legion's new hall at the south end of Aurora is fast nearing completion. "We hope to use it for a meeting in January," said Mr. Steadman. The estimated cost of the building, as it will be when completed shortly, is approximately $9,000. The contractors have been authorized to complete the present shell and to install the heating unit. Meanwhile it is hoped that the roof will be put on the building over this coming week-end.

In order to accomplish this, the Legion has sent out a call for volunteers to aid in roofing the hall on Saturday and Monday. An official opening of the Legion Hall is planned immediately upon its completion.

Bookends For Vets Still In Cartons

Aurora—In 1945, the Aurora council purchased approximately 300 sets of bookends to be presented to Aurora veterans of World War II as a token of the town's appreciation. Of these, 15 have been delivered to date, the rest still reposing in cartons under a desk in the town office. Councillor T. F. Swindle, in bringing the council's attention to the matter at the council meeting Tuesday evening, said, "We can't expect the veterans to come and ask for them. It's up to the council to see that they get them." Since the Canadian Legion has a complete list of all veterans council moved that the Town Clerk and the Canadian Legion co-operate in the distribution of the bookends.

Renzius Tops Poll Paynter, VanZant New Members

Newmarket—Rudy Renzius led the polls as candidate for council in an election which was uncertain as to result until the last vote was counted. Early returns had four of last year's council lagging behind the top six but late results brought them to within the circle.

Biggest surprise to many was the prominence of Lorne Paynter, who in his first attempt, was second highest with 563 to Mr. Renzius' 624.

Another newcomer who showed better than was expected was Charles VanZant, placing third with 510. Frank Bowser, long-time member of council and chairman of the roads and bridges committee, placed fourth with 538. Mr. Bowser led the polls last year with 865. Three of the four remaining members of last year's council followed with R. C. Morrison 498, and Tom Birrell 477 completing roll for next year's council.

B. A. Budd was four votes under Mr. Birrell to forfeit his seat on the council after his first year.

The remaining candidates follow in order: Elman C. Campbell, 441, Douglas May, 427, Clarence Curtis, 403, W. J. Hopkinson, 295, Mickey Smith, 266, Aubrey Seythes (last year's council) 201.

Mr. May and Mr. Curtis were both tagged by many observers as sure candidates for council, and Mr. Campbell was also considered an excellent prospect.

The school board vote seemed to go as was expected with the top three and the bottom three bunched. Leading the vote was J. L. R. Bell with 782, followed by Herb Atkins with 623 and Ken Morton with 593. Neither of the three had run in municipal elections before.

Tom Gillespie, a newcomer to Newmarket politics, polled 299, Isha Goodman 289 and James Eakins, who had run last year, polled 172.

It is estimated that 45 percent of Newmarket voters turned out despite the poor weather, a slight increase over last year.

78 Appeal New Assessment

Newmarket—Appeals listed at the town clerk's office against recent assessments number 78. Of the estimated 70 property owners south of Millard Ave. on Main St., one third have registered appeals.

Over 20 of the applicants list their complaints merely as over-assessments. Many of them go into detail as to why they think their assessments are too high. Sixteen appeals were based on mistakes in property measurement or incorrect assessment information. One appellant complains "building has been removed and is no longer used or needed by the assessed. Neither will it be replaced."

Another property owner complains "I do not see how the value of 65 feet of grass can increase over 150 percent in the course of five months, especially at the edge of town." A business site was increased by $1,000.

"I am overtaxed in frontage," says one complaint. "I have an 81' frontage and am being taxed on 85'. Also check the lot number, I think it may be confused with another."

"Assessed for 40' frontage which calls for only 33' in our deed," says another. One appellant claims a high assessment and that the assessors did not call to check the interior of the house.

Several said that they were not getting enough rent out of their houses to warrant so high assessments. One man said he had his house rented for the next eight years and his assessment was too high.

The assessors' report to the town council November 15 made a recommendation that a new plan of the town be made up by the town engineer showing all the recent sections incorporated and also that all houses in the municipality be numbered according to their lot and plan.

The assessors also recommended a strong building-by-law and a permanent building inspector.

All profits and responsibility for the operation of refreshment stands will go to Mr. Beazer. The net profits after the above deductions and not including free time for skating will be distributed as 50 percent to Beazer and 50 percent to the commission.

The commission will provide and pay for all help and material for the distribution and collection of tickets and admissions to activities in the arena and do all the banking, accounting and disbursing of the proceeds. At the end of six months, $200 from the gross profits will be retained to make certain preceding accounts are paid.

The agreement also states that Mr. Beazer must make all expenditures by requisition signed by a member of the rink committee.

By-Law Confirms Beazer-Rink Contract

Newmarket — An agreement with respect to the Newmarket arena between the recreation commission and Leslie William Beazer was sanctioned by a by-law at the last meeting of town council, Monday, Nov. 29.

The council had turned over the full control of the arena to the commission earlier in the fall and the commission appointed Mr. Beazer as director of activities. The terms of the agreement state that Beazer is director and manager of all activities and operations for one year from November 1 and for a further period of a year if mutually agreed upon. Gross profits will be distributed first to the water and light accounts, heat and material required for the ordinary up-keep and all fire and public liability insurance premiums.

The agreement also states that Mr. Beazer must make all expenditures by requisition signed by a member of the rink committee.

KETTLEBY

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. E. Blatchford who celebrated their 20th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Dec. 5.

It was with deep regret we heard of the passing of one of our most regular visitors who worshipped most Sundays at Christ church. He was Mr. F. Till, Toronto, and we extend our deepest sympathy to his wife and family. We have missed him all this summer on account of an accident last fall. He has been able to be with us only once this year.

Sorry to hear Mr. Ed Haines is sick and we all wish him a speedy recovery.

On Sunday, Dec. 5, at Christ church another young life was dedicated to God's service in the service of Holy Baptism, Sandra Jean, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wood (Jean Glenaves). All four grandparents were present, and several other relatives.

All members of Christ church Ladies' Guild are asked to come to the parish hall on Monday, Dec. 13, after lunch to clean up ready for the party on December 14.

On Tuesday, Dec. 14, is Christ church annual congregational supper at 6 p.m. sharp. We hope all our members will be on time as we have a good program after supper and as the children will be at school the next day we want them to get home early.

Service will be at the usual hour of 3 p.m. at Christ church, Kettleby, on Sunday, Dec. 12.

W.I. Gathers Gifts For Shut-ins

Elmhurst Beach—The December meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Jas. Clark. The roll-call was "Christmas cheer for shut-ins," to which there was a very generous response of canned goods, ginger-ale, money, etc. If anyone would care to add to this contribution, please contact Mrs. Peters, the convenor of the committee. Mrs. N. Boynton gave a splendid report on the convention held Nov. 10, 11, and 12, at the Royal York hotel in Toronto after which we had a very interesting reading by Mrs. F. Lockertie on "Christmas Customs in Other Lands."

Mrs. Joy Johnston then addressed the meeting as to how the W.I. might work in conjunction with the teaching staff for more efficient work in the school.

After the singing of some well-known Christmas carols, the meeting closed and a delicious luncheon was then served by the hostesses. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Muirhead on January 5.

ON GUARD

Day and night, more dependable than ever

TODAY, telephones are four times as free from "trouble" as twenty years ago, and there are twice as many of them!

Each month 10,000 are being added so that soon all may have dependable telephone service and the security that goes with it.

This is being done in spite of rising costs, yet up to now there has been no increase in the basic telephone rates established 21 years ago.

For you, this means greater value than ever before; for us, the satisfaction of providing "the best telephone service at the lowest cost".

Demands Made Of Rec'n Commission Keep Members Busy

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.
It's amazing the amount of work the Newmarket recreation commission wades through in the course of an evening. It's been my pleasure to sit in on some of their more recent meetings.
Chairman Ted Gould probably whims down the gavel about seven and a half bells and here's how a sample evening goes.

"Blackie" Blackstock, a lone delegate from Pickering College with an eye to hockey practices and games, asked about arena time. The commissioners with assistance from their rink manager Les Beazer sent Mr. Blackstock away with a full schedule and everybody happy. Next the Newmarket Ski club, headed by president Cliff Bell and a four-man delegation, asked about help for a trio of skiers to take a short instructors' course. The matter called for further consideration and the slat addicts were asked back next week for a reply.

Then the commissioners tied into some healthy discussion and final plans for their part in the Santa Claus parade. They'll have a float, of course, but better half there, man, or you'll give the show away. The way
I heard it sounds good.

Rink committee matters then led away with vice-chairman Jim Walker at the head, chairman Les Boynton missing one of his few meetings. Now we won't bore you with small details such as purchase of tickets and so on.
There's a bit of good news for the commissioners, town council and their better halves. There's passes going out to each rink winter activities. The intermediate O.H.A. players not overlooked either. They are going to be able to skate this winter with a pass to be issued. Keep them in condition, is the idea.

A timely subject then went through various discussion stages, that of the refreshment booth at the arena. It's going upstairs rather than at the entrance and so are the skaters' dressing rooms. By the way, a trip down to the arena right now will make your eyes pop. We'll close with a suggestion—maybe a note of warning—there's a big hockey game coming up—you "old timers" 39 to 99, better get in shape.
The advertising question took up some time also—there's room for more. Oh yes, like to be a Cub or Scout Master?
There is a need—see Bert Budd or John Hines.

The recreation commission roll calls reads like this: chairman
Ted Gould, Mrs. N. L. Mathews,
Mrs. V. Seldon, John Campbell,
Bert Budd, Tom Birrell, Russ
Broadbent, Chas. Allair, Keith
Davis, John Hines, J. B. Walker and Les Boynton. Mrs. D. L.
Brown is secretary.

Miami Green Bowlers Readying New Clubhouse

The Miami Green bowlers are really going places these days with their new winter home.
The necessary building to house their activities moved into place last week. The co-operative spirit has hit the bowling fraternity as they are pitching in with hammer and saw to get their clubhouse in order.

Here's an idea how the clubhouse is going to look when completed. The building, as it now stands, is 125 feet long by 30 feet wide. The enthusiasts hope to put down two greens, each nine-feet wide, with a three-foot walk-way on either side. After laying out a 90-foot green, a recreation room some 25-feet long takes care of the rear section.
You can guess there will be some tall bowling stories swapped there.

The front portion, some ten feet in length, will provide a reception room. Now the winter bowlers aren't just sure whether Santa Claus will be able to find them in their new clubhouse but hope to have it ready for a visit from him. They have their fingers crossed.

Early Season Show For Newmarket Skiers

It's a big evening coming up for the snow skooters on December 17 when Newmarket Ski club has three flickers in color and sound to interest you. The program reads something like this:
First Winter Ascent of Mount Duluth, think that's in the Canadian Rockies; A Ski Pro's Holliday and Rhythm on Snow. Clint Melville, instructor of the Ontario Government Travelling Ski club, will M.C. the evening. So if you want a full evening of arm-chair skiing get along up the hill to the high school and see the show. Date, December 17, time, 7:30 p.m. You'll get a pointer or two and perhaps see perhaps how the experts dig themselves out of the snow banks.

Scout Mothers Meeting Like Christmas Party

Newmarket — The December meeting of the Scout Mothers' Auxiliary took the form of a Christmas party. The short business session was occupied with plans for the serving of coffee and doughnuts to the Santa parade participants on Saturday.
The Scout Christmas party will be held on December 17 while the cubs will hold theirs on December 20. The auxiliary will take charge of the refreshments for both affairs.

An interesting paper on Christmas in Other Lands was presented by Mrs. B. Budd.
Carol singing and games followed by a delicious Christmas lunch completed the jolly evening. There will be no January meeting.

W.A. Supper Dec. 15 Like Christmas Party

Ravenshoe—The W.A. supper will be held Wednesday, Dec. 16, in the basement of the United church, supper to be served from 6 to 8 p.m. This being the Christmas supper for the children the young people are planning a play and other entertainment. Everybody welcome.

Mr. Charles Rose is still confined to his bed at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ted Breen.
We wish Mr. Rose a speedy recovery.

The slides shown in Ravenshoe school Tuesday night were enjoyed by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Nool Crocker and Connie, Shelburne, spent the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Rose and called on friends in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sedore, Jackson's Point, had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Rose Tuesday night.

The championship pennant has been awarded the Newmarket Girl Guide Company for its participation in the recent Crippled Children's campaign. Guides throughout the province sold doughnuts to aid this drive for funds. The Newmarket Company sold the most doughnuts in this area.

The next Guide meeting will be held on January 12.

Judging by news pictures, the boys who do the fighting for peace in the U.N. ring, always shake hands between rounds.

ARTS CLUB HAS AUTUMN EXHIBITION

The Newmarket Arts club had its autumn exhibition on Saturday and Sunday at the town hall where seven local artists hung paintings. Shown above with some of his work is William Hopkinson, president of the club. Other canvases were by F. Dennison, Doris Gibney, R. D. Chadwick, Mrs. W. H. Stevens, Ross Hugo and A. C. Schneider. 'Know Your Bible' Campaign For Newmarket

Newmarket—Know your Bible is the name given to a special series of lectures to begin December 16 and to continue each Thursday for several months at the Gospel Tabernacle in Newmarket. Without any denominational flavor, these meetings promise to be something entirely different from anything heretofore attempted.

Rev. A. R. Yielding, who has behind him some 25 years of Christian ministry, will lecture on the fundamentals of the Christian faith under such titles as The Holy Spirit, The Second Coming, Justification, Sanctification, etc. The meetings will be conducted in several series with eight meetings to a series and will continue as long as the interest remains.

Some of the more interesting features will be the answering of written questions, a free page of notes to each person on the subjects discussed, colored pencils for Bible marking and the absence of any denominational differences.

The end in view is that all church members and others who wish to gain a working knowledge of their Bibles may do so under a competent teacher and be able to go back to their respective church communities better fitted to serve their fellow men.

A wide scale distribution of cards with the subjects listed is being made and overflow crowds are expected. Mr. Yielding approaches his subjects with quiet dignity. He presents his lectures after careful planning in a most interesting manner and with a deep simplicity that enables his hearers to follow him easily and remember his messages clearly. The motto for the campaign is What Saith the Scriptures?

Russian Missionary To Speak Here

Newmarket—Rev. Peter Varonoff will speak at the Free Methodist church on Tuesday,
Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. Rev. Varonoff,
Russian missionary from Odessa, Russia, says: "The Communist doctrine has no place for Christianity. Lenin is the God of the Godless."

Rev. Varonoff states that from 1930 to 1941, all religious worship was forbidden in Russia.
The churches were all closed, and Sunday was just another working day, but, he states, in 1941, when the horrors of war were being brought to the Russian people, they demanded to be allowed to go to church and worship. Millions of people flock to the churches now.

Rev. Varonoff, who has spent most of his life in Russia and whose parents are missionaries there, says that Communism has three elements: denial of God and suppression of religion, abolition of private ownership of property, and hatred of the rich.

Dr. H. H. Bingham To Preach Here Sunday

Newmarket—Dr. H. H. Bingham, general secretary of the convention of Ontario and Quebec Baptists, will be the preacher in the Christian church pulpit on Sunday, Dec. 12, at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Dr. Bingham has enjoyed an outstanding career as a Christian statesman. His early youth and childhood were spent in and around Aurora, his father being the pastor of the Schomberg Baptist church. As a young man he was associated with the Aurora Banner for five years.

He and his brothers were used most effectively as an evangelistic band throughout Kansas and Colorado. After 12 years pastoral leadership in Calgary, Dr.
Bingham returned to the east where he continued his career as the minister to the Walmer Road Baptist church in Toronto. During this period, he contributed to the church generally was recognized when he was appointed to the executive of the Baptist World Alliance and travelled throughout the world as its representative. A further honor was bestowed upon him last year when he was appointed vice president of the World Alliance of Baptists held in Copenhagen.

Dr. Bingham is a simple yet forceful and profound preacher.

40 Attend Aurora W.I. Course On Oven Meals

Aurora—On December 2 and 3, the Aurora branch of the Women's Institute sponsored a course on Oven Meals given by the home economics branch of the department of agriculture.

Four honor graduates in home economics took charge of the class of 40 ladies who met in the Orange Hall. While the demonstrators prepared food for two complete meals, she regaled her audience with a wise and witty running commentary on menu planning, food selection and a view to maximum nutrition, the careful spending of the food dollar, the proper use of the stove and the wise selection of cooking utensils.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Mickle of the Imperial Oil Company, an Esotane stove was installed which did the actual cooking and gave a good account of itself.

Those who took the course found it practical and profitable and each became the recipient of a cook book which states that cooking is not only an art and a pleasure, it is an exact science as well.

Guard Of Honor Of Brownies At Wedding

Newmarket—Forming a guard of honor on Saturday at the wedding of their Brown Owl, Sylvia Dolby, the members of the first Newmarket Brownie Pack came smartly to attention and saluted the bride and groom as they left Trinity United church following the ceremony. It was difficult to decide who enjoyed the experience more, the Brownies or the large group of spectators who found the little ones especially winsome.

At their meeting on Thursday, the Brownies presented Miss Dolby with an attractive wooden hostess tray and nut bowl to match.

EVENING AUXILIARY

Newmarket—The Christmas meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of Trinity United church will be held in the Sunday-school room on Tuesday, Dec. 14, at 8 p.m. A splendid program featuring Christmas music has been arranged. Holders of "mitten" boxes are requested to bring them into this meeting. A social hour will follow at the close. All ladies of the church are invited to attend.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Janice, five years old, was afraid to cross the street without her mother until recently.

There has never been any trouble keeping Janice off the streets. She has always had an uncanny fear of streets. She has never played in them and has never run into them after a ball or another child. Until recently, she had never crossed a street without her mother.

Janice's caution regarding the dangers of streets was a big help to mother when Janice was a pre-schooler, but proved somewhat of a nuisance when Janice started to school. Mother had to cross three streets with Janice four times a day.

This insistence that mother cross streets with her continued for weeks. Something had to be done. One noon, mother phoned the school to say that she couldn't call for Janice—but Janice could come home with a neighbor's child. A few minutes later, mother received the message that Janice had decided to stay at school for lunch, and was quite happy, sharing food from other children's lunch boxes. That experiment ended with mother sending lunches with Janice on days when it wasn't convenient for her to make the extra trips.

Didn't Call

One day, by way of experiment, mother didn't call for Janice after school closed. Janice played happily on the playground until her mother did come—an hour later than usual. "I knew you would come," was all Janice said when her mother finally arrived.

One morning, mother pretended to be sick. That meant Janice would have to go to school without her mother or else stay home. Poor Janice! She wanted so much to go to school that she cried; yet, she wouldn't go without her mother. Amid sobs, Janice told her mother that missing one day at school wouldn't be as bad as never being able to go to school again.

A little questioning as to what Janice meant revealed the truth about Janice's great fear of crossing streets without her mother. As a young child, Janice's imagination had led her to believe that her uncle, who was a war cripple, had lost his leg crossing a street without his mother. After Janice learned the truth about the lost leg, she didn't mind crossing streets without her mother.

Often, it's difficult to find explanations for a child's peculiar behavior. Frequently, his actions are based on unnecessary fears—fears which destroy powers to reason.

St. Andrew's Day Tea Well Attended

Newmarket—St. Andrew's Day was the time and St. Andrew's church basement the setting for one of the most successful teas in 25 years held by the Presbyterian Women's Association. Unusually fine weather combined with original invitations drew an exceptionally good attendance to this annual event.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. M. E. R. Boudreau and Mrs. W. M. Cockburn. Mrs. Len Little presided over the affair. Presiding over the tea table decorated in Scottish theme were Mrs. Roy McDonald and Mrs. N. L. Rogers. Plaids and heather were in evidence everywhere. Mrs. Grant Sine and Mrs. Joseph Greer took charge of the tea table.

The bake sale and bazaar held in conjunction with the tea also proved successful.

The Common Round...

By Isabel Inglis Colville

WITH DIFFERENT VOICES

Each one of us has a voice, some way of expressing the opinions, ideas, ideals, dissatisfactions and joys that make up our lives. As with people, so with communities, villages, towns, cities—they too give voice and from those voices we can learn much of what each town lives by.

If it lives "by bread alone," the voices that speak for the higher things of life will be weak and faint, but if its voices — church, newspaper, cultural groups and town officials speak with strong voices for all that lifts man above the "bread alone" stage, one finds a town that is reaching after higher things and which, inevitably, will make its mark.

Newmarket, as I see it, is growing into such a town, and although it is still suffering from what we used to call "growing pains," and there are rents in the armor which it puts on to tilt against evils, yet it is growing. It has a newspaper through which speak many voices — voices that speak on as many subjects, and through its columns, editor and people speak as they can speak only in a democratic country.

We have churches where, Sunday, those who speak from their pulpits, strive to bring the Kingdom of Heaven nearer to men. We have an Arts exhibit where those gifted in that line can bring before the town their work and help those less gifted to an appreciation of that line of art and beauty.

We have arts and crafts that are growing in popularity day by day as people realize how good it is to have worth while hobbies. There are church choirs which give faithful service week by week to the glory of God and the pleasure that anyone who loves music derives from this work. There is a Choral Society orchestra, a Dramatic club, and a Home and School club. All these voices speak for Newmarket and each of them has a responsibility to make that voice strong and pure and good. And now, I want to speak briefly of two of these voices we heard recently.

Church Dinner

Last week we attended a dinner at the United church and it was an excellent dinner served by the W.A. I think about 240 sat down to enjoy the good food and the sociability, which constitutes more than half the pleasure on such an occasion. One makes new friends and enjoys old ones. Following the dinner a Canadian National Film of a trip to the west coast was shown. What a country is this Canada of ours! Beauty and wealth and plenty lie everywhere one goes. We are at peace with our great neighbors to the south and we have an honored place among the nations and will be greater as we grow more articulate. Following this, Mr. Bogart, who was born in Newmarket, and recalled many of its small-boy joys, spoke.

His work as a Toronto lawyer takes him at times into the juvenile court and he spoke feelingly of his conviction that youth has not had a fair chance in our day. He spoke of the untold value of the home—united homes—where the family co-operates to make it a working organization, where honesty, courtesy, respect for the elders, is taught but also respect for the juniors is not forgotten, and where love and fear is instilled from early childhood.

He spoke too, of the vast obligation to youth of the teachers in our public schools. Their duty, said he, is not only to teach but to know their pupils, their shortcomings, their trials and their possibilities.

He deplored the fact that youths convicted of crimes, must be herded with older, hardened criminals. Take them away to our northland, said he, under adequate supervision, let them work on that great land near the north, with their hands and feed their minds with proper food. We will all long remember Mr. Bogart's talk.

Dramatic Club Show

The Newmarket Dramatic club on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday staged the comedy, "You Can't Always Sometimes Tell," and following are a few impressions that we carried away with us — not criticisms, not a review—but impressions, and the first is: that if people do not progress they regress, and here was progress. In the first place, the casting had been done with a keen sense of fitness. I have seen—and so have you—amateur productions where people were cast with about as much regard for suitability as there could be if I tried to sing a role in a Wagnerian opera. So that was Archibald's and my first impression — the players fitted the parts.

Next was their improvement in stage deportment, very seldom did they turn their backs on the audience; in consequence, my husband and I, on comparing notes, found we had not lost a single word, nor were their words rushed in a way that left the audience trying to recapture what went before, before getting what was going on before their eyes—or maybe in their ears.

All these are the things which to us count in amateur productions.

One more impression — a lack of awkwardness. One sometimes finds in amateur plays a tendency on the part of the actors to find they have too many hands and don't know where to put them. So we can see progress and hope this group will keep on working together for here Charles Boyd has splendid material, and the longer the cast works as a unit the more little kinks are going to be smoothed out. Mrs. Brown is always a joy to listen to, to watch, and to look at, for she is the character for the time being which she is portraying. Irma McLean and Margaret Smith, two newcomers, will fit admirably into future productions. One or two little mannerisms, too often repeated, could be eliminated.

Evelyn Denne had a part which gave scope to a real talent. In one or two places there was a trifle of over-acting, we thought, but that can be toned down. We thought the parts taken by Gerry Gable and Charles Van Dusen, on the other hand, somewhat under-acted, a little more playing up to their character part would have not been amiss.

Eugene McCaffrey is always good, but he too, can watch one or two mannerisms, for no actor, however good — and he is good—can afford to let mannerisms detract from acting. John Kudelka was a find for the Dramatic club. We hope to see him again, but that is true of all the cast.

Edna Sleight, as the wife of a gangster, gave a surprisingly life-like performance — a hard role, well played.

Robert Wallace, as the cook, nearly stole the show. From when he appeared in the impossible hat, shoes that hurt, and a remarkable voice, he carried the audience with him.

These were our impressions and we thoroughly enjoyed the show. The Newmarket Community orchestra, under the leadership of H. A. Jackson, played between acts.

Spits Keep Noses To Grindstone

There is no let up in the Spitfires' round of conditioning. A further practice session is ticketed for Barrie this Sunday p.m., same time as last week. Get away time as the King George is five chimes. Gym skipping is also on the agenda for this week and next.

Welcomed back last week to the "Spits" shoot and skate brigade was Harold "Fink" Tunstead. Coach Harvey Gibney sent the big boy up on the wing with Bill Mabbett and Stan Gibbons. Myles McInnis dropped back to a defence post. Another pair of hopefuls to the ranks were Fred Williams, who had a brief spell with Newmarket army camp and with Ab. Hulse's Borden squad, and Ron Eves, a junior of last winter. Both are

Jack Atkinson Out With Meteors

Aurora—Jack Atkinson was a surprise turn-out on Sunday as Aurora Meteors flashed in practice on Barrie ice. The big defenceman from the Hill, who played minor hockey with Aurora and junior with Stouffville, has been slated to play with North Toronto Lions so far but says he hasn't signed anywhere as yet. He was noncommittal after the practice but if he shows again for practice it will be a good sign. Meanwhile coach Red Mitchell has been smiling merrily as Bill McGhee and Jack Andrews, Pete Widdrington, Grant Firth, Draper and Coole show fine form at the blueline. Dougie Moore is the only goalie signed so far and he appears to have cinched the starting berth. While 25 players can be signed under O.H.A. rules, the club is not anxious to deprive boys of playing regularly elsewhere if they can not make the grade with the Meteors, for that reason only the boys actually depended upon in coach Mitchell's plans have been signed to date. The squad still numbers around 24, but can not continue at that figure for long. One or two boys from the South Simcoe area will be given a trial when ice comes to the Aurora igloo. Secretary Howard Case has been instructed by manager Leonard Simmons to get cracking on exhibition tilts and the Meteors will probably take to the ice next week for their first encounter. Meanwhile another practice has been scheduled for next Sunday. Newmarket fans will have a strong rooting section with the Thoms brothers, Firth, Widdrington and Gibson all having attached their signatures to playing certificates.

Suppose, to open our attack on the bowling scene, we get off on the right foot with a birds-eye-view of the leagues knocking over the pins on the local alleys. At the Goodman's north end bowling academy, where Ernie Bennett spreads out the welcome mat, Mount Albert has the floor on Mondays and with 16 teams no less. In its fourth year now and a going concern. At the moment the Bluebirds, like the good birds they're supposed to be, are flying atop with 20 points. The Eskimos, anything but cold on the maple runways, are a close second with 28. In the third with 25 are the Tigers and fourth, a single point to the rear, the Hurons with 24. We'll not embarrass the other teams just now by quoting their fortunes or misfortunes as you like. Setting the pace is Frank Damp of the Wildcats with a high average of 222, high triple 794 and high single 364. With the ladies Blanche Evans (Bluebells) is leading the parade with high average 184, high three 573 and high single 243.

Tuesday you'll find the Office Specialty men's office staff and drafting departments in session. A four-team loop captained by Don Burch, Tommy Scott, Geo. Philmister and Stew Parks. Burch's trundlers have been leading to this point. Davis Tanners take over Wednesday as their four teams provide some merry action. Right now Andy Cullen and his buddies have top spot sowed up with 40 points. Trailing is Bill Townsley with 37, Bill Cullen with 30 and far in the rear Jack Groves with 10 points.

Thursday finds the Bradford men's league in full swing with an eight-team circuit. Steve Simone of the Aces has the vegetable growers singing about his pitching. Steve's high three-some of 854 makes a high mark to top, follows.

The Hoffman pin-spillers send the howl down the polished hardwood boards on Friday evening. There's a five-team circuit, Machine Shop, Stores, Press Shop, Vorelone and Sheet Metal. Moving down on Joe Smith's, Monday Night Ladies hold the fort with a six-team loop. Now we'll take no responsibility for the team names but here goes. Humbugs, Nitwits, Duds, Blanks,

O.H.A. convention was the big event of the week. North York plans may or may not have got a rap on the knuckles. The powers-that-be who call the hockey tune didn't favor allowing the North York Metropolitan League affiliation with its body. Rather, said Geo. Panter, then president, now assistant secretary, the governing body of hockey would prefer direct entry by each team in the intermediate series. The teams, Sutton, Bradford, Aurora and Newmarket, were promised to be grouped but sometimes there's many a slip when final groupings are announced.

Can't get it through our noodle why the O.H.A. saw fit to allow the North York Mercantile League affiliation privileges two years ago, but say no this time. Guess that goes down as one of the things we may never know. The Metro League executive had a go at this and other problems Tuesday. The four teams, Bradford, Aurora, Sutton and Newmarket, are going to stick together through thick and thin. All will enter the O.H.A. intermediate series and will battle tooth and nail to keep their loop intact.

The O.H.A. convention, some 30 delegates strong, put in some of its longest sessions Saturday. Aurora and Newmarket were represented, the former by "Dinty" Moore and the latter by Dewey Kuhns, John Hines and your scribbler. Hottest discussion revolved around the controversial draft law but it passed. In a few words, if any team under senior A or junior A have an up-and-coming player, said stick welder can be drafted by the A's for $150. The fee is payable to the O.H.A., to be handled at its discretion. 'Tis said they'll pass it along to the team concerned in due course.

Getting back on the home grounds, seems a faint hope at the moment but Thursday will be hockey night for the Spitfires. They'll stage their home appearances at the arena that evening. Sutton have Friday night booked, Bradford Wednesday and Aurora hope to land Monday. Arena painting has just been completed. You'll get a surprise at the difference. Thanks go along to all those who whipped into the job and put it over. The town council should be strong in the catching department in '49. Your friend and mine, Charles "Peaches" VanZant, came out of the aldermanic race a winner. Congrats Chuck. "Blackie" Blackstock reports his Pickering College hockey and basketball squads are preparing for a busy time of it. In hockey the school on the hill won't enter O.H.A. but is going to keep its knittling with exhibition games with the prep school teams. In basketball, it'll be North York League and prep school action.

Four Schools Vie In Basketball Loop

Four schools will again be represented in the North York secondary school basketball circuit, Aurora, Richmond Hill, Newmarket and Pickering College. Schedule for the league, which will play double-headers in senior and junior series, is: Jan. 17, Aurora vs. R. Hill; Jan. 20, New vs. Pickering; Jan. 25, R. Hill vs. New; Jan. 28, Pickering vs. Aurora; Jan. 31, Pickering vs. R. Hill; Feb. 2, New vs. Aurora; Feb. 8, Pickering vs. New; Feb. 14, New vs. R. Hill; Feb. 17, Aurora vs. Pickering; Feb. 22, Aurora vs. New; Feb. 24, R. Hill vs. Pickering. Referees are yet to be named for the series.

Newmarket—A successful sale of homemade candy was held by the Quilts Local Association on Dec. 2 and 3 in conjunction with the dramatic club presentation of "You Can't Always Satisfy Them."

Shmoos and Owls. Phyl McInnis cornered a goodly share of the spotlight Monday with a 712 total made up of 222, 207, 223. Second on the list was Edna McGrath with 621 rolling 207, 190, 218. The ladies turn to the knife and fork league next Tuesday, a banquet, and have a chicken bowl coming up December 20.

Tuesday and Wednesday, the pins take a terrific pounding from the 12-team Town Men's League. It's Clover Kleckers in the lead with 24 points. Roy Gibson's Combines with 23 second and tied for third Donno Electric and Office Specialty at 22 points each. Roy Wilson tops the high single with 341 and Doug Beckett high triple with 775.

Sorry folks, but it looks like we'll have to say "30" else Mr. Editor is going to cut us off about here. We'll let you in on the Office Specialty, Office Staff Ladies' league, Thursday night girls and Lawn Bowlers Ladies' league next week. See you then.

Minor Hockey Shows Signs Of Activity

By GEO. HASKETT, JR.

We've been neglecting far too long our minor hockey pals, and if present plans are fulfilled it's going to make for a busy round of ice campaigning.

First, let's get down to the very smallest of the tribe, the pee-wees and bantams. Pee-wee age is 13 and under as of Nov. 1, and bantam 15 and under on the same date. In past seasons, except for the bantams iced by sportsman Jimmie Walker in late February last season, the public school hockey league has taken care of this angle. Now there's a new deal on the way. We'll try to explain.

The school league and recreation commission are going to join forces and sponsor a bantam and pee-wee league. There'll be at least four teams in each. All connection with the schools will be done away with. Most young gaffers wishing to play at the Alex. Muir, King George, St. John's and Stuart Scott have already placed their names with Principal H. A. Jackson and Frank Hollingsworth. Now it's those other lads attending high school, in the above age groups, that the two gentlemen want to get on their lists. Better give them a shout right away. Then you'll be toting a stick and skates this winter.

Next to come into firing range are our midgets. As we've been saying for a couple of weeks now, they are going to be taken care of by our Legion mates under the guidance of Mickey Smith. Plans are well underway too so our cuff notes would indicate.

That brings the juveniles front and centre. Here we can't say definitely everything is under control. The Lions have been sponsoring the club these past few years and doing a swell job too, we might add. Of that band that carried the banner last season three, Don Gibson, "Ortie" Thoms and Grant Firth, looked headed for ice activity with Aurora Juniors. Even with this loss, we can see enough tal-

An revoir was said last week to Maurice "Fireman" Walsh, the loquacious softboller and three-star hockey arbiter. "Mo" has received the appointment as referee-in-chief of the Cape Breton senior hockey circuit, and he's now directing ice traffic amongst such boys as Bob Bangay, George Stark, Jack Curtis. In addition, he will doubtless be seen in the C.H.A. playdowns. Walsh just about went east last summer to play baseball in Halifax, and doubtless he'll stay down by the Atlantic next summer for a spot of diamond warfare. The Cape Breton circuit embraces Glace Bay, Sydney and North Sydney, and the bluenoses fans take their hockey very seriously. One of the most colorful sports figures to ever hit the district, Walsh will be missed by a host of friends, and even those who were wont to give him the razzberry on occasions. Best of luck, chum!

Northern news corner: A few weeks ago we paid a flying visit to the Sudbury district and we had a chance to make inquiries about some of your favorite puck-chasers of other years. Normie Mann, the baby-faced pivot star of Newmarket Redmen of '33, is now located at Powassan, and he's coaching the high flying Hawks of that centre as well as doing a stint on the ice. Gar Preston, the curly-thatched Aurora boy of the same Redmen vintage, is a neighbor at North Bay where he's employed by a department store. "Curly" is doing some coaching among the juniors at the Bay. To complete the picture, Regis Kelly, better known as "Pep the whirling dervish" who carried the mail for the Redmen and St. Mike's, is playing with North Bay seniors of the N.O.H.A. and getting his share of goals. Mann and Kelly both served in senior and pro company, but Preston, who was more brittle, never went any further than senior with Kirkland Lake.

Moving over to Sudbury we find that Harry Pearce, the sturdy East York boy who did himself proud with the Aurora Tigers of '40 and afterwards spent five years overseas, is still as speedy as ever. Pearce holds down a wing position for Sudbury seniors. Dan Vanellet, who played junior for Aurora in '32 and afterwards did yeoman service at Midland, Collingwood, Gravenhurst, and Pembroke, is trying out his ankle. Injured last spring in a fall, and will likely confine his winter's activities to house-league competition. From the Soo we learn the new artificial ice plant is not yet completed and has cost to-date about twice what the folks figured and it's now in the high six-figure brackets. Across the river, on the U.S. side, the Soo Indians flourish in two circuits and they've added to their tribe two braves who saw service with Newmarket camp hockey teams in the persons of Terry Blechitt and Walter Zuke. The two Soo boys were two of the speediest players in service hockey. Zuke was with the camp team of '43, and before that in the A.H.L. Blechitt was with the camp team that played mercantile in '46. Up at the far north, in the goldbelt area, Sparky Vall, has again taken up refereeing as a winter recreation. Vall, a favorite in canallown in the 30's, knows all the tricks of the trade from experience and rules with an iron hand.

Closer to home we note that Markham Millionaires on their first start of the season in Oshawa on Monday night, downing G.M.C. Parts 4-3 in an exhibition clash. On Saturday night, Bill Thoms' Lindsay Meteors dented Ernie Lawrie's Stouffville Clippers 5-1 in a warm encounter at Lindsay. The Markham team was composed of Frankie Carr (Aurora Juniors and Newmarket Vets), goal, Dick Perry (Vets), Bert Baker, George Scott and Fred Scott, defence; Chuck Nesbitt, Linnet, Hog Singleton, Jackie Routelle, Howard and Bruce Forgie, Klink, Vic. Molarg, Kelly, and Brennan (could it be Gordie of Aurora Tigers of '40?). Coach Earl Robinson was in charge. Johnny Grewson, last year with Newmarket, got the only goal for Clippers at Lindsay and was a standout. Bill Johnston, and Don Smith of Newmarket were on hand to complete an ex-Newmarket line.

Aurora Intermediates will hit the ice shortly and while they'll be a bit behind the real in condition, the lads are quite enthusiastic about their chances. Ken Rose, veteran Aurora player of yesteryear, last seen in action with Newmarket Intermediates in '30, figures on seeing if his legs will function as of yore when the first practice is called. It will be interesting to see father and son compete for a place on the team for Gene Rose, ex-Aurora junior, will also be at the Aurora practice. "Mouse" MacMain has signified his intention of battling it out with Eric Smith for the net-minding spot. One thing is certain, and that is that there'll be plenty of candidates for the squad, and Hal Rogers, when he returns from his holidays, will need a few extra headache pills.

From the O.H.A. convention on Saturday came the ruling that senior and junior "A" clubs drawing players from lower company from now on will have to pay $150 per player. If it was retroactive, Aurora would grab a yard and a half of greenbacks from Galt Rockets for Bill Boychhoff and Newmarket could get the same from Galt for Ken Droughton. Only two players can be drafted from the same club. Naturally enough, all the smaller centres voted for that one. Junior "C" clubs can now import three players in place of two as last year which won't hurt the chances of Aurora Meteors in the least. Playing certificates must now definitely be registered with the O.H.A. before a player performs on the ice, or the game in question may be forfeited by the offending team. A good rule, that will keep club officials on their toes.

No need to say that any rules desired by the professional clubs were steam-rolled through the meeting by George Panter and his henchmen. Some day, an Abe Lincoln will arise in the ranks of hockey officials to free the kids of today from the semi-slavery in which they now must play hockey if they are to make hockey a career, and right now it's a mighty good paying one.

The Metropolitan circuit was not granted O.H.A. status as George will explain elsewhere, but each team can enter the O.H.A. Next thing that will happen, aside from extra dues to the O.H.A. pot, will be for Johnny Hines and his executive to find themselves hamstrung by the very rules they sought to escape from. The Metropolitan league is justly entitled to affiliation and the fact of the matter is that the Aurora Town league and Newmarket league in the past have been accepted and their winner allowed to enter the O.H.A. playdowns with only one O.H.A. entry fee. Incidentally, it will be recalled that in 1945 Aurora Army, the mercantile winners at Aurora, went on to win the O.H.A. intermediate championship. Stand to your guns, men!

ent at hand and ready to patrol the ice lanes for a creditable juvenile squad. All but four of the Midget "Legionnaires" of 1947 are finding old age creeping up on them and will have to make the jump into the higher company. A run-down gives us John Stickland, Howard Peterman, Ian Brown, Bob Groves, "Spike" Cain, "Hook" McLellie, Ivan Bray, Bill Smith, Ron. Coveney, Doug. Bunn, "Pepper" Martin, Joe Burke, Walt Cain and three juveniles of last year, "Red" Wilkins, Geo. Zogolo, and Dave Couch, and a fine start for a club they'll make.

So that's the picture, which leaves us with a thought in mind that some coaches are going to be needed, and a sponsor or two. Like to have "coach" in front of your name or take over "Happy" Day's place? Here's the spot to get your start. Just shoot your name along to Jim Walker.

The Financial Post of Toronto had in its last week's issue an exhaustive analysis of the causes of the hydro shortage. Admitting that there is no single or simple answer to the question of cause, responsibility, and the length of time the shortage will last, the Post article finds:

No one person or circumstance is entirely responsible for the grief and blackout that has been the lot of hydro consumers;

That an unexpected post-war boom caught the system at the end of the war in a very vulnerable position which was further complicated by two years of water shortages;

That the administration of the hydro system, while in its ordinary affairs commendably free of "political" interference and having excellent technical management, did suffer from controversy over its long-term policies and planning.

The Post article sees the hydro "pitched into the murky waters of political controversy" by Hepburn in 1935 in cancelling Quebec contracts because they were too high, and Ontario would never need the extra power.

Subsequently, Hepburn reversed his stand on Quebec contracts and when Dr. Hogg was appointed, new contracts were signed at a lower price. However, the fact that the contracts had been repudiated tended, according to the Post, to disturb confidence in long-term contracts with the province.

Under the new contracts, the hydro was in a happy position when war was declared in 1939, but by 1941, the margin of safety had been largely wiped out. In 1942, Dr. Hogg warned that a shortage threatened the following winter. With the St. Lawrence Seaway out of the question because of war, hopes were pinned upon the development of the Ottawa river power sources, and after some discussion with Quebec, hydro initiated exploratory work at Des Joachims.

Ontario's arrangement with Quebec was that Ontario would develop the upper half of the river while Quebec developed the lower half. While this arrangement made engineering sense, it was attacked by Drew and Duplessis for political reasons.

In January, 1943, Quebec and Ontario signed agreements on the division of the Ottawa river for power purposes. The federal government waived its rights to facilitate development of the power sources and Dr. Hogg estimated that power would be available from Des Joachims two years from the date of authorization.

Then came the election in the summer of 1943 with Drew elected, and reiterating his intention to cancel the Ontario-Quebec agreement on the division of the Ottawa river for power sources. Mr. Drew saw Premier Godbout a month following the election but Mr. Godbout refused to consider any alternative to the agreement signed before Mr. Drew's election. As the months passed, the Des Joachims' project was pushed into the background.

In 1944, Premier Godbout was defeated and Duplessis elected. Another year rolled around with no action on Des Joachims. In the summer of 1945, Mr. Drew went to the polls and was returned with a big majority and in September, he wrote to Duplessis reopening negotiations on the development of the Ottawa river, and on November 15, work was begun on Des Joachims.

We haven't the space to deal with all the circumstances covered in the Post article, the above representing only the briefest of the outlines of the political aspects of hydro development. The Post poses a number of questions which suggest that considering the time, one of desperate effort against the foe, and the expected post-war slump, there is some doubt whether an alternative course, suggested by hindsight, could have been followed.

However, it does seem fairly clear that the hydro commission, from 1935 on, was hindered by political interference, and that the two-year delay in the development of Des Joachims might have been avoided.

From the Files of 25 and 50 Years Ago

A. B. Currey has decided to open an office here in the Bank of Toronto building, according to the files of 25 years ago. He is a Newmarket boy, son of the late John Currey, and will occupy the home property on Botsford St. Mr. Currey has practised as a barrister in Durham and Hanover for six years.

Mrs. Freeman Gilroy, Sutton West, visited her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Herman Gilroy, this week.

Miss Clara Trivett gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Lulu Collins last Thursday. There were about 20 present and the bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts.

Registrar Boag moved to town last week and is living in the residence formerly occupied by Ed. Boyd.

On Wednesday evening when doing his chores, Wm. Holt was kicked in the face by one of his horses. His face was badly cut and his nose broken.

George Haines and family have moved back to town from Toronto.

A group of young people were entertained at a party last Wednesday evening at the home of W. J. Goodwin, on the townline. Misses Leila Belfry, Mabel Menar and Jean Carrick sang solos, games were played and lunch was served with a committee appointed to clear up and do the dishes.

The sons of Chas. F. Wood, Lawnridge Farm, south of Aurora, discovered a "bee tree" on their property. On cutting down the tree they found about 40 pounds of choice honey.

There was a big market last Saturday, according to the files of 50 years ago. Butter, eggs, poultry and potatoes were the chief commodities. Prices for butter ran from 14 to 16½ cents a lb. Fresh eggs sold as high as 23 cents, 21 and 22 cents were freely bid. Thirty cents a pr. was the usual price for dressed chickens. Dressed ducks were 50 and 60 cents per pr., and dressed turkeys 8 and 9 cents a lb. Potatoes 45 and 50 cents a bag, winter radishes 25 cents a basket, and celery 2 or 3 heads for 10 cents.

Miss Florence Hopper has returned home after a month's visit with relatives in Oshawa and Whitby.

Sunday night there was a snowstorm and on Monday morning two feet of snow covered the ground. Such a fall of snow in one night was never known here at this time of the year for 43 years. When the walks on Main St. were cleared the snow was piled three feet high.

'Getting Out The Vote'

Early figures on the voting Monday in Newmarket suggest that at the best, the turn-out of voters could only be described as medium. The weather being cold and blowy, it may have kept many home but the lively service which was operated by many candidates could have taken those reluctant to face the weather to the polls in complete comfort.

It might have been expected, too, that the number of candidates, both for council and school board, would have overcome the objection one so often hears, that it is the same old crowd running and no vote is a vote against them. Certainly that wasn't the case this time with seven new candidates running for council, and six for school board.

One suggestion, which might encourage a heavier vote, is to increase the number of polling booths and place them farther from the centre of town. Booths at the north end, and the east and west sides of town would make voting a good deal more convenient for many citizens.

While candidates, "to get out the vote", are prepared to go to such lengths as providing a baby sitting service while mother marks her ballot, this effort has an opposite side. One citizen overheard Monday night remarked that two votes were lost at his house because no one came for him and his wife in a car. It is discouraging commentary on this man's belief in the democratic processes by which he lives that he would vote, only if encouraged by a free ride to the polls and back.

What Price Public Monopolies?

The Printed Word has some bitter conclusions to draw from the current hydro shortages. It says:

"Excepting in so far as it is due to lack of rainfall, Ontario's power shortage is the people's own fault, for embarking on socialism at the behest of Adam Beck in 1907. (George Drew wasn't old enough to vote then). The private power barons of those days, according to report, were a bad lot, but they could have been controlled in the public interest by a regulatory body clothed with ample authority by the legislature. Today, if Ontario's power were not a government monopoly there would be no shortage other than that caused by lack of water. The two or three small communities still served by private companies are being served. Nowhere else on this continent is there such a disastrous mess as in Southern Ontario. If Ontario were served by private companies, the management thereof would have been tarred and feathered, perhaps drawn and quartered, if they had let down their customers as the sacrosanct "publicly owned" (a euphemism for 'socialist') hydro has done."

There is a good deal of sense in that excerpt. The argument in favor of a publicly owned utility has been that through public ownership, the people are protected from the extremes of monopolism. Yet the past months have demonstrated that a publicly-owned monopoly can be just as high-handed as a privately-owned one. A farmer who has been trying to get electricity into his farm knows what it is to butt his head against the stone wall of official indifference—except, of course, at election time.

And, as The Printed Word notes, it is possible to regulate private monopolies through legislation without depriving them of the business-sense which is so lacking in those corporations which are run by the government.

Conservation On Provincial Level

"In 1948, we have spent staggering sums to know where water isn't. Where we are going to get water, I don't know and nobody else does," Mayor Vale told the nomination night audience. This problem is not confined to Newmarket. It is general throughout the province.

In the adjoining column, the Farmer's Advocate puts the cause of this water famine succinctly: "We cannot allow a large proportion of our precipitation to run off in devastating floods and still have enough for the use of vegetation, animal and man."

As the land about Newmarket has been cleared, nature's means of retaining water have been destroyed with the cutting of bush and the draining of swamps. Improper methods of cultivation have contributed their share of the water run-off. What is to be done?

Individual farmers, water-conservers, are restoring their bushes and using improved methods of cultivation. But individual action is not enough. To be effective, water conservation measures must be on the level of provincial administration. It is a job which is going to require more than persuasion to accomplish. The regulation of bush-clearing, for example, can only be enforced by means of legislation.

It seems to us that the time has come when enforcement by law of water conservation methods is required. The lack of water is a problem which faces everyone, farmer or townsman. Voluntary efforts have not been sufficient. The alternative is conservation by law.

The Newmarket Arts club exhibition on the weekend was one which should afford members and citizens cause for pride. Newmarket is exceptional in the number and quality of its artists. The work displayed at the town hall was far beyond what might be expected of such a show in a town this size. Any encouragement that the citizens can offer the club will be in a good cause.

Other Editors' Opinions

Fort Erie Times-Review — The church—any church—has always believed that every man, no matter how lowly, is vitally important as an individual. Communists—Russian or Canadian—have always believed that no man is important at all as an individual—but only as a handy, if trifling, unit in the State.

Though these two beliefs are directly opposed, they have somehow been combined in one man, the famed Red Dean of Canterbury, who, in addition to the amazing feat of professing Christianity and Communism at the same time, feels able to serve on the editorial board of a Communist newspaper and also run a cafe.

The man is certainly versatile, even if unorthodox and, perhaps, dangerous.

Just what the Dean is up to is anybody's guess. Some claim he is a welcome tool of the Kremlin, helping to carry on its current, fake, "peace offensive". Perhaps.

Others pass him off as just another one of those well-meaning, sincere idealists who wish everybody well, but have spent so much time in an ivory tower—or church tower in this case—that they simply don't know what they're talking about. Perhaps again.

At any rate, the Archbishop of Canterbury has made it plain that the Church of England will have no truck nor trade with its embarrassing Red Dean's political activities. The Archbishop said:

"The dean's office and jurisdiction . . . does not extend beyond the confines of the Cathedral body of which he is head. Outside those limits he speaks and acts for himself."

Perhaps. But he could be speaking for Stalin.

Farmer's Advocate—The story is told of an expert beverage taster who had a poor opinion of water. While the expert was tasting samples of beverages someone slipped in a glass of water. When he came to it and tasted it he said: "I don't know what this is but it won't sell."

Never have we put the proper appraisal on water, but we are beginning to appreciate its value now. In-land towns and cities are searching desperately for water. The shortage of water to run hydro turbines is part of the same drought picture. Constantly lowering water tables are forcing people to drill wells at great expense. Falling springs and streams are creating a bad situation across the countryside. The time has arrived when water will sell, and to buyers the cost will be high.

And the cheapest way to buy this needed water will be to create forest cover, restore swamps and hold water in ponds and lakes created by engineers in the high lands. We cannot allow a large proportion of our precipitation to run off in devastating floods and still have enough for the use of vegetation, animal and man.

Stouffville Tribune — Fourteen unfilled senatorships in Canada at the present time. Why not leave them unfilled, and save the country a cold hundred thousand dollars a year.

If the people had the "say" in this matter and not parliament, the vacancies would go on forever. Then, too, Mr. King didn't see fit to fill them.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

Miss Susy Belle Crinoline, the polished diamond who works in an office, is harassed by conflicting thoughts. One night not long ago she came upon a soap box orator at the corner of Botsford and Main. Since that time she has been concerned about her philosophy of life. She worries about her purpose.

"What did this street corner prophet say that should cause this turmoil in your conscience," I asked of her.

"He said that there would be a downfall of mankind if we are not careful," related Susy Belle. "People don't accept the responsibility of life as they should. There must be a purpose for each one of us. He said that each one of us is a link in a big chain."

"And I suppose you want to know where you fit into the chain."

"Yes all I do is come to the office every day and work and go out on Saturday night with my boy friend. I should have a greater purpose in life than that."

"Than what?"

"Oh just going out with the boy friend," said Susy Belle. On the other hand there is Slim Bliggins, the town bum who lives in the piano box at the side of the railway tracks. Slim is like a chunk of coal in the rough. There are no soothing tumults of conflicts inside him. He is hard coal through and through.

Slim soaks up the carefree life and doesn't worry about anything. When spring comes he goes on a trip out to the west coast or up north. He goes by freight, thumb or foot. Maybe you have seen him around town in the warm weather. He speaks to all the dogs and if a daisy in the dell nodded at him he would nod right back.

When Slim walks down the street he speaks to everybody. He can talk about local politics, your problems, hunting and fishing and horse racing. He will stop and play with the kids in the park or buy some poor wail on the street a bag of peppermints. He breathes a good life.

When Susy Belle walks down the street with her high heels clicking at top speed, she looks neither to left nor right. Her eyes are always glued to a spot seven side walk blocks ahead of her. The sight of a dirty street urchin is repelling to her. "What a filthy child," she thinks. "Why don't people wash their children and keep them off the streets." Susy Belle is a sensitive girl but not to the birds and the flowers. Animals, she has no love for and people in general just make her feel uneasy.

Every day, on her way home, she walks by Slim Bliggins' piano box with the roses growing around it. But if you asked her, she would tell you she had never seen it.

But Susy Belle must have a purpose in life. Last week she found it.

She came into the office one morning with a new sparkle in her eye. She had read about some starving natives in Inner Mongolia; her women's club was to start an Inner Mongolian fund and she had been put in charge of the committee. She would devote her life to the Inner Mongolians from now on. She had found her new purpose, to come to the aid of mankind. "There must be a purpose for each one of us," she said.

I also heard recently that Slim Bliggins had a wife and six children who live at Spruce Junction, Northern Ontario. His wife takes in washing to support the family.

Sometimes I don't understand human beings, boss. I think I feel a conflict coming on.

by "Back Concession" The Top Six Inches

Is mixed farming on the way out? Apple and potato culture are now specialized. Apples and potatoes need so many sprays that the average farm cannot afford the equipment for spraying to control disease.

Are pigs and chickens the next to be specialized? Those who do not give special care to pigs and chickens find it very hard to raise them. Is the pig-butchery in the offing, where special care will be given to raising young pigs for sale?

Many farmers sell all their young pigs as suckers, while other farms keep no sows and buy all their young stock. Thirty years or less ago, eggs for hatching were brought from any flock that was nearby with no thought to eggs or color. Disease was not thought of. Today birds are culled for eggs, color and are blood-tested for disease by inspectors from the O.A.C. This came because disease made it very hard to raise chickens.

Now the O.A.C. is coming to the Ontario farms with all kinds of tests. We have pig-feeding stations now. I think we should have a baby pig station where we farmers, with help from the College, can select the best breeding stock. Tests to be sure the stock would be free from disease; that the best balanced rations were fed, then buyers of baby pigs would be sure of getting good stock for feeding.

Often times when young pigs are taken to another farm no attention is paid to feeding. If young pigs have been on starter and are put on grain, they go back.

Those who have running water on their farms will find a fish pond will pay well. One acre will give 300 to 400 pounds of fish per year. Should eggs be sold by weight? The price spread in grades is not fair to the producer. Some years ago, we could only buy bananas by the dozen. Today we buy by weight only. Because eggs have never been sold by weight is no reason why they should not be.

I asked two people what they thought of editorials in the papers. One said that editorials were for the higher educated people to read. The other said the editor just ran out of news so wrote to fill space in the paper.

What should the editors write about? Should they use the editorial page to give their own ideas, views, or opinions? Or the policies of any one group? Or should the editorial page be used to give all sides, trying to show good and bad points so that the community could have a fair chance to judge what would be the most good for the most people. Has the editor a right to express his own opinion, or the preacher, or our teachers?

Those who work in public office should speak their mind. Businessmen should not be afraid to speak. Is it not time that we got away from this worn-out way of thinking: businessmen afraid if they give their opinion they will lose business, other people lose their jobs?

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS by Don Graham

How time-conscious are you? The man who tries to make the best use of his time can do more and better work per hour. And he is more likely to succeed.

Here are five time-saving hints that increase efficiency:

1. Study every aspect of your job to see where you can make shortcuts. (Sometimes two jobs can be done at once — e.g. the truck that mixes its load of concrete as it travels.)
2. Don't start to work gradually. Hit the job hard right from the start!
3. Plan your work according to a schedule. You need a "blueprint" for your time in order to estimate present and future needs.
4. Get the most efficient new tools available for your type of work. They'll pay for themselves many times over.
5. Have everything you need for the job ready before you start.

If you put these suggestions into practice they'll help make every working hour more valuable!

Canadian Life Insurance companies meet their obligations promptly. In 1947 they distributed 112 million dollars to living policyholders and 69.3 million dollars to beneficiaries under death claims.

Homemakers' Exchange

Apples are in season all year round, but from November to April they are the standby of the homemaker. Here are some hints for using apples:

Cook apples for sauce in a tightly fitting cover and cook quickly to avoid loss of color and flavor.

Use spices sparingly with apples to bring out the natural flavor, not to disguise them. A little salt often improves the flavor and sweetness of cooked apples.

Apple sauce icing is delicious and easily made. 1/2 Cup apple sauce and 1 1/2 cups icing sugar will make sufficient icing for an 8" x 8" cake. This is especially good on spice cake.

Cream cheese and grated raw apples in equal quantities make a delicious sandwich spread. Equal quantities of apple sauce and peanut butter also make a good spread.

One-half cup of grated raw apple added to 1 cup mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing makes a new type of dressing for vegetable or fruit salads.

An apple in the bread box helps to keep the bread fresh.

HUNGARIAN APPLE PUDDING

4 Large sour apples
3 Tbsp. fruit juice
1 Cup fine, soft bread crumbs
1 Tbsp. butter
1/2 Cup sugar

Pare and grate apples. Add fruit juice and blend. Add bread crumbs. Cream butter. Add egg yolks, sugar and salt and beat thoroughly. Add to first mixture and combine well. Beat egg whites until light, add remaining sugar gradually, beating until mixture will hold in peaks. Fold into first mixture and turn into lightly-greased baking dish. Oven-poach in a moderate oven (350°) for one hour. Serve with hard sauce. Yield: six servings.

THE NEWMARKET ERA AND EXPRESS, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9TH, 1948

THREE

There is so much going on these days that you simply can't keep up with it all — afternoon teas, bazaars and bake sales for afternoons, and the Newmarket Dramatic club's monthly presentation last week for evening, then the special film, Henry V with Laurence Olivier, and then on Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings in the town hall was the Newmarket Arts club's autumn exhibition. I wonder why it insists on raining every time, nearly, the Arts club puts on its fall exhibit. But any lover of fine pictures never lets the weather interfere with his attendance. I can't say it was rainy on Saturday, but I was up at Holland Landing attending the afternoon tea, bake sale and bazaar of Christ church W.A. so was not able to be there at the Arts club exhibit. I usually go several times, but this time I was away both Saturday and Sunday afternoon, so went in after evening service Sunday — and I assure you it rained that night, simply poured!

The pictures, in water colors and oils, are now a beautiful memory—you could spend hours there, looking and looking, and then you'd feel you hadn't begun to see all you wanted to. We missed the familiar presence of Mr. Clement King — and his lovely marine paintings. Mr. Denison had a fine one of some boats at a dock, but I do not recall any others of that nature. Mr. Denison had also some exquisite miniature paintings in carved frames with a beaver on top. The pictures this year were mostly, if not all, completely new—or so I would judge—I did not ask, but so it seemed to me. Mr. Ross Hugo's water colors were, as always, breath-taking with their ethereal beauty.

Busy Summers

Mrs. Walter Stephens has had a busy summer, as has also Mrs. Delbert Gibney, for they both had quite a number of exhibits, none of which I recall having seen before, wonderful oil paintings of both familiar places in a near town, and also up in Haliburton. It was fine to see a little card on so many, indicating sales.

You have to stop every few minutes in your rounds to chat with different ones, and my visit this year was so brief that it was hard to know where I left off—so I may have missed several. Not being prepared for rain, and having walked, we left hurriedly and were none too dry when we reached the haven of our home—so I had only a very fleeting look at some that I would have liked to study further.

It is such a pleasure to meet the artists, Mrs. King, Mr. Hopkinson and Mr. Chadwick, Mr. Denison, Mrs. Stephens, Mr. A. D. Schneider, Mrs. Gibney and Mr. Ross Hugo — and if I had managed to get there on Saturday or on Sunday afternoon I'd have been able to really tell you about the wonderful contributions of each artist. I think when they have their next exhibit I'll go as soon as the doors open and stay till closing time each day.

You find yourself recalling several pictures and one was entitled, "Seen from my Kitchen Window" — and you fancy you

Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Draper are shown after their marriage at the parsonage, Keswick. The bride, Cora Louise Wernham, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Wernham, Holland Landing, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Draper, Keswick. Their attendants were Mrs. Jack Wernham, sister-in-law of the bride, and Earl Draper, cousin of the groom.

Friends, Neighbors Say Farewell To McNerns

Sharon — The W.A. of St. James' church, Sharon, was invited to Mrs. J. A. Winch's home for afternoon tea on Wednesday of last week. The occasion was marked by the presentation of a silver membership pin, and a combination prayer and hymn book, by the president on behalf of the members, to Mrs. Bruce McNern, who after seven years, is returning to Wainwright, Alta.

A very happy evening was spent by about 60 friends and neighbors on Saturday evening, Nov. 27, at Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilmo's home, when Mr. and Mrs. McNern were presented with a nest of walnut tables. Mr. Wesley Eves in a few well chosen words expressed the regret all felt at their decision to return to Alberta and wished them every happiness wherever their new home may be. Mr. Allan Baldson made the presentation. Gordon is still attending O.A.C. while Robert and Douglas are now residents of Newmarket and Hazel is in Winnipeg.

The farm is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. Taylor of Kettleby and our new neighbors will be welcomed as days go by.

Make the dough like this:

- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1/4 cup brown sugar

- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 3/4 cup sifted Purity Flour

Cream the shortening, add vanilla and brown sugar.

soda and sifted PURITY FLOUR, and add to mixture.
Divide the dough into three parts for three different cookies.

Remember, this grand recipe was created and tested in the

Dramatic Show
Rocks Town Hall

Newmarket — The December offering of the Newmarket Dramatic club, You Can't Always Sometimes Tell, was given in the town hall December 2 and 3 and the old building must have rocked to its foundations in keeping with the audience, for we literally "laughed our heads off" as the small boys say. The players went serenely on with the play in spite of the hilarious audience—and I do believe they enjoyed themselves as much as we did. Such mix-ups, such involved situations—and it all began with Mrs. Anne Lyster, a frivolous society matron, at her summer home in the mountains trying to obtain a new cook from an employment agency.

As, always, Vera Brown was perfect in her part as was Eugene McCaffrey as her nephew who came there for the wedding of his cousin, Phoebe, Mrs. Lyster's oldest daughter. Phoebe was taken by Irma McLean, a newcomer to the Newmarket Dramatic club, and she will certainly be in demand for future plays as will also Margaret Smith who played the youngest daughter, Phoebe's sister. The two sisters were perfect in their parts. Phoebe was engaged to Westbrooke Walker whom she detested, but his mother and her mother were determined to carry it through and the wedding was to be in four days. The part of Westbrooke's mother, Imogene Walker, was taken by Evelyn Denne, a difficult part, but handled beautifully as always by her. She was the doting mother of a conceited son who thought himself irresistible—the part was taken by Charles VanDusen and taken wonderfully. The expression on the faces of mother and son was perfect. Imogene "registered" every known emotion, I am sure, in the course of the play.

Pie, Jim Blake, the part taken by Robert Wallace, was the one who created the wild hilarity. Jim is the chap that Phoebe has made up her mind to marry instead of Westbrooke and she is so disappointed because he hasn't turned up as promised for the weekend. When he does arrive cousin Charles discovers that they were schoolmates and finding Jim had been in a car accident and his uniform was muddy and creased, he persuades his cousin Juliet to take it to Mrs. Murphy's to be cleaned and pressed. In the meantime Jim had to wrap himself in a sheet because Charles' trunk had not arrived and he had only the clothes he wore. Jim got impatient and, dressed in a sheet, comes downstairs—and all sorts of complications crop up—among them a new neighbor, Albert Salmon, who comes to call. That part was delightfully taken by John Kudelka—he sure liked the ladies and the comical way he rolled his eyes brought down the house! Imogene set her cap for him but he liked Anne better and then later was caught kissing the cook who was really Jim dressed up in feminine attire by Juliet to apply for the position of cook because of the loss of his uniform and the necessity for him to have some clothes. The advent of Martha Green, a newspaper reporter, who came to interview Phoebe about the wedding and who sensed something going on and who solved the mystery of the young woman who also came to the house, claiming to be the wife of Jim Blake, married that morning. Those parts were taken by Gerry Gable and Edna Sleight—we did not see so much of them but they took their parts perfectly and carried things along to the end.

This all sounds rather tame, I know but one can't really describe such a play in one short column. It is queer, but true, we enjoy, above all else, watching a man impersonate a woman and the comical situations Jim got himself into, while applying for the position of cook—especially when Albert Salmon, the new neighbor, makes love to her—him, I mean—and Imogene stands behind and sees it all, or when Jim smokes his pipe! It does us all good to laugh and we can't be high-brow all the time.

Their next presentation will be January 27 and 28. It will be three one-act plays. Lovers, directed by Barbara Hamilton, Riders to the Sea by Mike McMorrow, and Marooning of Marilla by Eva Barnes. I am sure we will all thoroughly enjoy every one of them.

48 Men, 31 Women
Live At York Home

(Stouffville Tribune)

The Old People's Home on Yonge St. maintained by the County of York, comes up for annual discussion at county council, and the report presented this year by Reeve A. A. Cook of Aurora was a particularly well prepared document. It revealed that there are 79 inmates in the home, 48 men, and 31 women.

The average age of the men is 71 years, and the 31 women have an average of 74. There were five persons discharged during the year, and 12 admitted to residence. Eight persons died during the year.

Practically all the inmates at the Home are in receipt of the pension, but the county claims the cheques each month in payment for their keep, with the exception of $5 which is allowed each of the elderly guests for their own use. Clothing, meals, magazines and books are supplied in abundance, and good warm quarters hence there is little to spend the $5 on, other than a few personal things. Even candy and gifts are brought to the old folks at odd times by organizations, and the county supplies the men with tobacco.

Persons who are not in fair health according to the standards of elderly people are not admitted to the home, as it is not a hospital. However, when any of the residents become ill, they are taken care of and sent to hospital if necessary and returned to the Home when recovery is made. There is usually a dozen or more unable to come to the dining hall for meals who must be served in bed.

Church services are held regularly, conducted by various ministers representing different denominations and visiting days are standard so that persons may see old friends. Likewise, they may take the elderly occupant to their home for any period of days which is a treat many enjoy.

The Home has 130 acres of land and a fine herd of cattle, poultry and other stock. The old people who are able are given a share in the work, which they really like to do. All in all, it's a great family with Major and Mrs. Sprague at the helm, and their task is no easy one, you may be sure. Old people have strange ways, persistent and determined such as the elderly chap who insists in cutting every button off his clothing, and this goes for a brand new suit too. Then there is the chap who wants a red patch on his trousers, so the first thing he does when he gets a new pair from the store room is to get away in a corner, cut a hole and place the red ensign on it. After all, it could be a safety measure if the old fellow does much walking on Yonge St.

There is an odd person who does not hear well, and wants the radio at thunder pitch, against the wishes of a mild spoken old fellow who just does not like noise. These and many more are problems for Major and Mrs. Sprague. But they settle them so diplomatically county officials hear little or no complaint at all.

Spent $950 In High Park
Against Drew $50,000

Newmarket — On Nov. 29, Wm. Temple, victorious candidate over Geo. Drew, in High Park in last June's provincial election, addressed the Newmarket C.C.F. club. In his introduction of the speaker, A. H. Woods mentioned the speaker's association with federal leader M. J. Caldwell, in the pioneering days of the party in Western Canada.

Mr. Temple outlined the organization of his campaign in High Park, 44 years a Conservative riding, taken by Mr. Temple with a campaign expenditure of $950 against a Conservative estimate of $50,000 on behalf of Mr. Drew.

The speaker pointed out that a C.C.F. member being responsible to his own riding club made for a democratic movement from the bottom up with the result that the party is being accepted in all classes.

Mr. Temple warned that we are heading for an economic crisis similar to that of the '30's and said that only the C.C.F. can lead us away from such a crisis.

Mr. Temple touched on the present deplorable administration of both Old Age pensions and Workman's Compensation and cited a few personal experiences in these matters, which he said more than proved the justification of his accusation. Mr. Temple spoke with the warmth of sincerity and was warmly received by his audience.

A new U.S.A. super-magazine, without advertising, is planned for next January. It will be published every second month. The subscription price — $150 a year.

BELHAVEN

The December meeting of the Belhaven Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Will Anderson on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 14, at 2.30 p.m.

The program will be in charge of our guests, the Union Street Women's Institute. Members are asked to bring a Christmas card to send to a shut-in as an answer to the roll-call. All members are hostesses.

Mrs. Lloyd Pegg is in Wellesley hospital and is doing well after having undergone a major operation.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Bird is better and has returned to her home in Belhaven.

Mr. Jack Edney and a friend called on his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ardill, on Saturday.

Preparations are being made at our schools, Belhaven and Baseline, for their annual Christmas concert.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Haines and Ruth, Newmarket, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Holborn and family on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rowe, Queensville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ramsay Weddell on Sunday.

The polygamists in Short Creek, Arizona, find their efforts to live communally frustrated by some members of the colony too lazy to work.

How many things made of aluminum can you see on a street corner?

UNLESS you look at the pictures on the right, you'll hardly believe there can be so many.

Yet this is only a few of them. For aluminum has so many advantages that you may see hundreds of other things made of it — on the streets, in store windows, almost anywhere you look.

This is because aluminum is so very light, and strong, does not rust and has lots of other special features. Today more than 1000 Canadian companies are making aluminum into so many kinds of useful and beautiful articles that no one can keep track of them all.

Why is this so? Because so many people all over the world want things made of aluminum we have been able to make more and more.

Because we have been able to make more, we have been able, over the last ten years, to reduce the price of aluminum ingot by 25%.

HANDS AT WORK... for ONTARIO

LEARNING MACHINE ASSEMBLY

ONTARIO'S products are desired and purchased by people all over the world and the capacity to produce such goods largely determines the economic welfare of every man, woman and child within her borders. Because the sale of every article produced in Ontario brings valuable dollars into this Province, we all are more assured of job security... and we and our children can have more of the better things in life. But to produce such goods in sufficient quantities, skilled labour is vital. That is why every single one of us should be glad that war veterans are constantly being trained to provide the skilled hands so needed by industry. They receive ON THE JOB training under expert instructors in our Ontario factories.

This training, provided through the co-operation of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, the Federal Department of Labour and the Ontario Department of Education, starts the veteran on the road to skilled craftsmanship. In assembling business machines, for example, veterans must have a thorough knowledge of electricity and must learn to perform intricate work on precision machines having thousands of separate parts. These Canadian-made business machines are sold in all parts of the world, creating new wealth for Canada and Ontario. Therefore every effort of these newly skilled veterans helps to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and contribute to the welfare and happiness of all her citizens.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

MACHINE ASSEMBLY

John N. West, 25, of Toronto, a Royal Canadian Navy veteran, is shown here making an adjustment to one of the 10,000 parts in a business machine designed for a New Zealand firm.

Various types of business machines are produced in Ontario factories. Because of their intricate mechanisms it is essential that these machines be checked by expert craftsmen at every stage of their production.

Bruce Black, who has served with the company both at Newmarket and Toronto since 1929, with an interval of service in the R.C.A.F., now takes over as their representative in the Eastern Ontario area, centred on the Ottawa branch.

Township Talk Has Whitchurch Contest

(Stouffville Tribune)

There are strong indications that Reeve L. P. Evans of Whitchurch, who announced his retirement a year ago to take place at the end of this year, is likely to change his mind and seek reelection at the forthcoming January election in that township. Mr. Evans was one of the county commissioners in 1948. It is reported that he will state the reason for changing his mind on the matter of retirement when he gets before the ratepayers at the nomination in the township hall on Monday, Dec. 27.

Deputy-Reeve E. Logan is understood to be seeking the reeve-ship, and the senior member of council, L. J. Harper, is looking at the office of deputy reeve-ship with more than keen interest. However if these individuals anticipated an acclamation, they may now see a contest in the offing if the report is correct that Reeve Evans intends to seek reelection.

Mr. Evans was accorded an acclamation back in 1946, on retirement of the late George Leary, and again in 1947 and 1948 he was given acclamations. Councillor Fred Timbers is also being urged to seek a step-up for deputy-reeve, but all this is only township talk. Where will it lead?
